Overview

Nathan Diehl joined Paskert Divers Thompson in 2019. He devotes his practice to commercial litigation, focusing on construction, suretyship, and collection matters.

Nathan graduated with honors from the College of Engineering and Applied Science at the University of Cincinnati with a degree in Construction Management. Throughout college, he accumulated nearly two years of experience working in the construction field for developers, general contractors, and construction managers. Nathan has helped build office complexes, school campuses, warehouses, and airports, with contracts totaling over a billion dollars. Nathan uses his hands-on construction experience to assist his clients daily.

In his spare time, Nathan enjoys spending time with his wife, Stephanie, and his daughter, Sadie, watching Bearcat and Gator football, and playing golf.
